• Investment creating trade

  – What Pakistan learnt from Investment in Bangladesh?

• Trade creating investment

  – What Pakistan learnt from Trade with Sri Lanka?
Taking Investment to India

• Two Views
  – High-end business → interested
  – Medium-end business → not interested at present

• Reasons for lack of interest (in some sectors)
  – Some will start thinking after normalization of foreign policy relations
  – Low returns associated with high risk/initiative
  – Interested in export only
Sector-specific Observations

- Leather Sector
  - Hand-made products require specific labour
  - Pakistan can introduce technology
  - Capacity building of current leather units in India
  - Joint venture in tannery sub-sector
Sector-specific Observations

• Engineering (and Auto Sector)
  • Pakistan has import demand of raw material from India
    • Can increase margins if subsidiaries in India are initiated
  • Pakistani producers if in India should be able to access local subsidies
  • Ease the screening process through mutual recognition of standards
  • Due to the large sunk costs involved Pakistani producers want to access local finance (particularly for working capital)
  • Anecdotal evidence of Mittal episode
    • Civil interrogation of several types (excessive red tape)
Sector-specific Observations

- Surgical and Sports Goods
  - Need for a strengthening of competition policies on both sides for preventing imperfectly competitive practices
    - In international market Pakistan selling soccer balls for USD 2.50 versus India at USD 2.48
  - Pakistan also supplies to China however did not physically invest due to Intellectually Property → specific local technology used in the production process
Sector-specific Observations

- Food Processing Sector
  - Containerization through railways
    - Demand continuously outpaced supply
    - Integrated check post reaching full capacity
  - For import of raw material need for enhanced presence of plant departments on both sides
  - City specific restrictions will curtail supply chain
Sector-specific Observations

• Social Services Sectors
  • Education
    • Visa policy for faculty and students
      • How many Pakistani faculty members in South Asia University, New Delhi?
      • Difficulty for Pakistani students to open bank accounts
    • Registration with national and local education authorities
    • Opening up of cellular services, online conferencing and e-commerce
    • Direct courier services missing
  • Health
    • Expedient visas needed for patients
    • Need permission for special private flights
    • Secure direct video conferencing protocols
Some Common Concerns

• Non civilian actors’ involvement

• Despite of grievance redressal agreement, dispute resolution mechanism is vague
